DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Yavitz et al. (US 6,473,792).

Regarding to claim 1, Yavitz teaches a wireless device (fig. 1, item 34) for broadcast of information (col. 1, lines 59-67, col. 2, lines 45-65) comprising: a medium (within radio station 34); a means for storing information on said medium (i.e., segments of data are stored within the radio station prior to broadcast, col. 1, lines 60-65); and a means for transmitting the information on said medium to various access points including a desktop personal computer, a handheld computer, a cellular phone or other mobile wireless devices (i.e., digital RDS data are transmitted over the airwaves from radio station, col. 40-55).

Regarding to claim 2, Yavitz teaches a means for storing, accessing and/or managing the information (col. 8, lines 3-24).

Regarding to claim 3, Yavitz teaches a means for communicating between said mobile wireless device and the wireless device (i.e., airwaves).

Regarding to claims 4, 7, Yavitz teaches a method for broadcasting information from a wireless device (col. 1, lines 60-66, col. 3, lines 42-55) comprising the steps of: providing a wireless device containing information, transmitting the information from said wireless device (i.e., computer 12 which can also be handheld device receives segments data from the radio station 34); capturing of the information by a mobile wireless device (i.e., the handheld device receives segments data from radio station 34).

Regarding to claim 5, Yavitz teaches comprising the further step of storing, accessing and/or managing the information (col. 8, lines 3-24).

Regarding to claims 6, 8, Yavitz teaches the step of connecting to an electronic network for utilization of the information (i.e., the computer is connected to network to download information, col. 8, lines 44-61).

Conclusion

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Conway et al. (US 5,214,793) teaches electronic billboard and vehicle traffic control communication system.

Steinberg (US 6,618,763 B1) teaches virtual private wireless network implementing message delivery preferences of the user.
